DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 98-100, 106-112, 117, 120-123 and 125 are pending. Applicant cancelled claims 1-97, 101-105, 113-116, 118, 119 and 124. Applicant's December 23, 2003 Amendment has been entered. Applicant is correct in that the previous Final Rejection is premature. Further, the previous rejections from the Final Rejection are withdrawn pursuant to Applicant's REMARKS from the December 23, 2003 Amendment. The Examiner regrets these errors. Thus, the Final Rejection mailed May 9, 2001 is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. Claims 98-100, 106-112, 117, 120-123 and 125 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harris et al, US 6,331,972.

Harris discloses a system for processing financial data for transmission in which customers, e.g. 452, use wireless devices, e.g. Figs. 30-32, with a merchant for correlating the financial data with the customer information to select individual profiles to facilitate the transaction of funds within a geographic area for a point-of-sale device, e.g. Fig. 3. Harris does not explicitly disclose the term customer nor displaying a list of point-of-sale device locations. However, to have provided the term customers for buyers and displaying a list of point-of-sale device locations for Harris, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. Doing such would implement a common knowledge term for that of a buyer as information of this type is customarily known in advertising and also is the type of information contained in a traditional type wallet, e.g. directions to varied locations of a product/service that is offered. The motivation for doing such would be advertising slogans and the varied use of making a pitch for a product using varied terms to identify the entities purchasing the merchants good/services and electronically digitizing information that is customarily contained in ones wallet.
